

A LAUGH RIOT YOU SHOULD SEE

PARLOR BEDROOM & BATH

Looking for Parlor, Bedroom & Bath? Most people are. No wonder. It's the funniest play Ogden has seen in many a day. Also a great comedy—

"MARY'S LITTLE LOBSTER"

NOW AT

UTAH THEATRE

Where you always can depend upon seeing a good Show.

HERE'S LIVELY TALE, MATES, OF HOOTCH, COPS AND NERVES

BY O. Q. MILLAR.

What a formidable array of confused ideas that single word conjures in the minds of law-abiding citizens during this period of semi-riot.

"Hooch" has been the primary cause of more cases of "nerves" in this wide land of ours than ever can be blamed to the "likker" that formerly flowed as the honey.

But not through imbibing. Neither through the near-forgotten spirit of conviviality that held away when good fellows were wont to foregather. These cases of "nerves" have been brought on, if we are to take the word of one prominent Ogden man, by repeated attempts to smuggle the forbidden beverage into popular cellars in this city of ours.

This Ogden man passed through an experience that left him a near-mental wreck. He well remembers the time when he could look the whole world in the face including police, man—without a tremor. But, alas, such days have gone.

COPS EVERYWHERE. He tells how his heart goes out to the criminal who sees an officer behind every bush. If the guardian of the law gives him more than a passing glance he shudders with apprehension, and in his words, "I wake up with a cold sweat, if I hear a tap at the door after 9 p. m."

He told me the sad yarn the other day and such of it as I recall I pass on to you.

"Do not get the impression that I am an addict. But I like to have a little in the house for visiting friends who always tell me how dry they are as soon as they get inside of the door. This thing has made a coward of me. I sneak to and from my work and I would wear false whiskers if I could find some to fit me."

"The bootleg game was a little too deep for me. I knew that a plot at a time didn't go very far on a Sunday afternoon when a dozen or more sincere friends had gathered around the fireside."

CASE PROMISED. "So when Henry said he knew where I could get a case at $125 I yelled aloud in delight."

"I'll bring the stuff around some night," Henry said. "Don't expect me until you see me and don't give me a cent until after it has been delivered," which suited me to perfection.

"A week or so passed and nothing happened, so naturally I began to get apprehensive. I telephoned to Henry but he was out. I went to the police station and with parched lips and tumultuous heart asked the desk sergeant if there had been any important arrests lately. I was reassured when they told me the jail was practically empty."

"The next night I had a hunch that something unusual was going to happen. I went out to see what was up. Alphonse refused to be fooled. About 10 o'clock I heard a tap at the door. I rose hurriedly and putting on a bathrobe went to the door.

"A perfectly strange man was at the door and at the curb with motor parking was a large motor car."

"Now, let me tell you Henry hasn't sent around that case yet. And when he does I'm going to be out. One score of that kind is enough for me."

CLowns ARE BIG CIRCUS FEATURE

Funmakers Are Vital Part of John Robinson Show Coming Thursday

There have been many improvements in circus entertainment during the past few years, but none more marked than the work of these indispensable assets of the arena, the clowns.

The fun-makers with John Robinson's circus, which is to exhibit in Ogden Thursday, August 26, are universally recognized as the world's greatest laugh producers. For more attention is given to this department by the Robinson management than is usually the case, for it realized early the fact that clowns were not merely a side-issue to keep the show moving, but a distinct, important, vital part of the show itself, one which reserves a generous portion of the regular program.

Acting on this principle, the John Robinson circus has changed the order of the day. Clowns are no more an impromptu business, a series of pantomimes, but a definitely organized set of routines, designed after specific requirements just as exacting as those of the theatrical stage.

The Robinson organization carries a corps of fifty or more of these merry men, headed by the formidable masters of clowning—Art Adams and Harry La Pearl. The antics performed by these half a hundred funsters are of such drollery, wit and humor that it is said the audience enjoys the day's laugh from the start of the big show to the closing number.

The big program includes such world-famous performers as the Bessie riders, the Nicholsons, wonders of the air, late of the European Saracella circus and the Olympia, London, the famous Nelson family of acrobats, whose athletic stunts are unequalled in circus annals, and numerous others which lack of space prohibits mentioning.

ELKS' DANCE! Another Elks' dance Monday, August 23, Hermitage. Members may get invitation for friends at office of secretary, 4616

Lake Chautauqua was not intense, Kansas and Nebraska were getting more than their share of sultry weather.

At the conclusion of her seven weeks' course, Miss Harris received a certificate of graduation from the Chautauqua School of Librarians, she said.

The course covers a period of four years.

Miss Harris said that Mrs. Ada Griswold, whom she accompanied east, will return next week. Mrs. Griswold, secretary of the local home service bureau of the Red Cross, has been taking a course in social welfare work at the Columbia university.

Miss Lorna Jenkins, of the Ogden public schools, returned yesterday after completing an extension course in music at the Columbia university.

Miss Ida Fitzsimmons, primary supervisor for the Ogden public schools, is also expected to return from Columbia during the coming week.

Miss Harris said that while heat at

"Where'll I leave it?" asked the man.

glanced up the street. Half a block away was a suspicious-looking chap leaning against a pole. He was looking nonchalantly in our direction.

"For Heaven's sake," I managed to whisper, "go away, don't you see that fellow, maybe he's a policeman."

"Sure, I see him, what's the difference," said the fellow making no attempt to muffle his voice.

"Get in the car and take it away as quickly as you can," I told him. "If he asks you why you were here, tell him you had the wrong address."

"I have no car," said the man and he left.

"What a relief it was, the suspense almost made me scream."

"Suppose that policeman (I was convinced of his identity) had walked away after seeing the object in the car. Suppose he was waiting for the car to return and then pounce upon me! The suspense was terrible."

"Once again I went a step outside and a tap at the door. There was that man and at his feet was the package."

"I grabbed it and made a rush for the house. The wind slammed the door shut. I had no key. I dare not ring the bell. The rest of the family is 'dry' and I was revealing to no one my traffic in liquor."

"I was in a panic. But when I saw a large figure loom up on the sidewalk I made up my mind."

"Here, take it and beat it quick," I said to the chap who delivered the package.

"Take it yourself, I've had enough grief already," he obstinately told me. "The policeman snatched it from the door. Sure enough he was the fellow who used to be traffic cop. We had had some warm arguments once and I knew I could get no sympathy from him."

"Pleasant evening," he observed. "I graciously agreed with him."

"Need any help?"

"None whatever," I hastened to inform the accommodating cuss.

"Movin' out or in?"

"Why—in, I suppose."

"He trotted up and eyed the package. He leaned over and poked it with his fingers. I was awestruck with goose-flesh."

"What's in it?" he asked.

"It's a basket," the other fellow said. "I was told to bring it here and this guy chased me away once, and now I've brought it back again."

"Oh, Lordy!"

SAVED AT LAST. "Huh!" commented the cop bending over the basket. "Hootch?"

"John," said a well-known voice. "This must be the liquor. Mrs. Gray said she'd send her husband around with it tonight. He's Mr. Albright's chauffeur, you know."

"Laundry, huh," said the officer involuntarily. "What a job."

"He tore open the paper. Inside was a hamper and laundry was what it contained."

"Now, let me tell you Henry hasn't sent around that case yet. And when he does I'm going to be out. One score of that kind is enough for me."

Sanitarium Baths Will Be Reopened

Ogden water fiends will again have the opportunity to bathe in the Ogden canyon sanitarium, according to an announcement made today by Manager Brigham Robinson. The resort was recently damaged by fire.

Swimming, tennis, bathing will be continued, but under different conditions than ruled before the fire. Dressing quarters have been completed in the gymnasium building, which will be used during the remaining weeks. All bathers, however, must furnish their own suits, as the suits belonging to the resort were destroyed by the fire. The two inside pools and the natural water lake will be used for bathing purposes.

W. C. T. U. Convention to Be Held in Ogden

The state convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union will be held in Ogden, September 4 and 5, according to an announcement made yesterday. Arrangements are under way to assure the success of the convention and an elaborate program is in the course of preparation.

Mrs. Mary Harris Arnold, known as "The Georgia Cyclone" will address the meeting both evenings.

The sessions of the convention will be held at the Methodist church. A noon lunch for members at the convention will be served in the basement of the church, and local members are asked to submit their names to officers of the union.

Wanted—A Salesman. Read "Lou's Best Girl," page 4.

4:45 TO 11 P. M.

STARTING TODAY

4:45 TO 11 P. M.

"The Deep Purple"

From the Stage Play by Paul Armstrong and Wilson Mizner.

Directed by R. A. Walsh

ALSO—

PATHE NEWS AND "TOPICS OF THE DAY"

NEXT SUNDAY—GEORGES CARPENTIER IN

"THE WONDER MAN"

OGDEN THEATRE

"LET'S HAVE A FASHION SHOW"

MAN WANTED IN MONTANA HELD

J. D. Fluery Arrested by Ogden Police on Embezzlement Charge

J. D. Fluery, alias J. P. Magruder, alleged embezzler, is at the city jail.

Fluery was arrested at Chateaux, Montana, according to advice received at the police station. He is alleged to have taken over 1200 acres of land with the intent to raise flax. He did not have enough money to purchase seed necessary to plant the land, it is charged, and the owner of the property advanced enough money to finance the purchasing of the flax seed. Fluery is alleged to have used the money for other purposes.

The man was arrested, but twice he beat the police. Then, accompanied by his wife, he made his way to Ogden, to be apprehended by local officers.

Mrs. Fluery, when questioned regarding the matter, is said to have told the police "I told my husband that no good would come from his action, but he insisted on carrying the thing through."

Fluery gave his age as 57 at the police station and his occupation as camp cook. He is being held pending the arrival of officers with extradition papers.

Stored Foodstuffs in Utah Shows Decline

Amount of foodstuffs in storage in Utah shows a decrease over last year, according to the monthly report of Walter M. Boyden, state food and dairy commissioner.

This year there are 17,256 cases of eggs, while last year the July report showed 27,004; there are 147,148 pounds of butter while in 1919 there were 187,961; there are 35,529 pounds of cheese compared to 46,522 July, 1919. Poultry shows a slight gain, there are 42,140 dressed chickens compared with 44,244 of last year. Fresh meat shows 494,028 pounds now as against 469,598; there are 711,155 pounds of salt meat now, as against 674,847; there are 125,125 pounds fresh fish while last year the total was 5229.

Cold storage space set aside for year, there being only 25,225 pounds; this year there are 138,998 pounds. This is accounted for by the fact that much fruit is being dried.

Instead of preserved, on account of the scarcity and high price of sugar. Nuts in 1920 show 154,260 pounds, and in 1919, 38,615. An extraordinary amount of candy is in cold storage this year, there being 225,614 pounds, compared to 62,427 year.

Alleged Thief is Sought By Police

A man who stole a set of draughting instruments from the company office of the Aero Cushion Tube company, twenty-ninth street and Pacific avenue, is being sought by the police.

The instruments, according to A. J. Price, were stolen four nights ago by a man who wore soldier's trousers, high top boots, and who was seen carrying a suitcase. The police later received information that a man answering this description had attempted to sell a set of draughting instruments at a pawn shop.

Strike Rich Steak At La Plata Workings

A rich streak of galena ore has been encountered by E. W. Thackwell and workers drifting into Sunrise Hill on the Galena Park mining company at La Plata, according to William G. Wilson, who returned yesterday from the workings.

The streak was uncovered for 12 feet and looks promising, said Mr. Wilson. It is the intention of the mine operators to continue drifting for about 200 feet more when they expect to reach the main body of ore.

Former Ogden Man Ends His Visit Here

After a visit of two months with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Stone of Ogden, Dr. Merlin J. Stone left yesterday on an extensive motor tour of

Ogden Man Convicted on Liquor Charge Must Serve Sentence

Indication that the state board of pardons has little sympathy for those convicted of having liquor in their possession was made apparent yesterday when the board denied the application for pardon of J. H. Roberts of Ogden, who is now in the county jail serving six months, after having been convicted here.

Roberts was placed in the county jail about six weeks ago when the supreme court upheld a decision of Judge A. W. Ascher of the district court here after Roberts had appealed his case three times. He was first convicted in the city court and was to have paid but a small fine, but he appealed the case to the district court and after two trials was found guilty by jury and was fined $250 and sentenced to serve six months in the city jail. He is now serving his sentence.

According to the testimony during the trials, Roberts purchased a large quantity of liquor from a Wyoming man and after he had the liquor in his possession, stopped payment on the check he had given. The former owner of the liquor sprung a surprise when he "squealed" to the authorities and his information resulted in the finding of the "hoose" on the Roberts ranch and the arrest of Roberts.

The plans were, it is believed, for Roberts to sell the liquor in a rooming house he operated here.

Roberts has still nearly four months to serve in the county jail.

Scardino Hearing Postponed Once More

The preliminary hearing of Jennie Scardino, 16-year-old Ogden girl who is out on bond charged with the murder of her cousin, Mike Terman, has been postponed again. The hearing was set for Saturday before Juvenile Judge Dan E. Sullivan, but other matters crowded it off the calendar. Now it will not be held until definite arrangements are made between County Attorney Joseph L. Bates and Miss Scardino's counsel.

Utah and Colorado. Dr. Stone will spend some time in Denver visiting the medical and surgical clinic there before motoring to Norman, Okla., where he will have charge of the anatomy department of the University of Oklahoma school of medicine.

Heroes of the national pastime never make great records on the links because they can't get the kick out of the subdued whispering of the crickets and the frogs that they do out of a good old pop bottle throwing gang of warmed-up roosters.

Those hungering for a picture play that will take all of their entire into a very tight knot should see "The Deep Purple" at the Ogden theatre where it begins a four day run today.

The opening title announces this picture as an E. A. Walsh production. It is directed from Paul Armstrong's and Wilson Mizner's famous stage play "The Deep Purple" and is an excellent screen melodrama, free from the cheap trickery and exaggerated situations which usually feature film thrillers.

In the cast are Miriam Cooper in the leading role, with Stuart Sage playing opposite and Vincent Scranio as the villain. Miss Cooper makes a most appealing country girl and Stuart Sage is a real two-listed mining engineer who brings into the story the wholesomeness of the great outdoors. Helen Ware, who will be remembered best as a Broadway star, does some character work as an underworld type which makes a deep impression on the audience. It is through this character that Director Walsh carries his message of good. The sincere effort of this woman to prevent the dragging down of an innocent, winsome girl into the abyss of indecency that is the lot of all women of the underworld wins great sympathy from the audience.

There are all the elements in this play which go to make up good entertainment. Your money will be well spent if you choose to see it.

STRONG APPEAL MADE IN 'THE DEEP PURPLE' AT THE OGDEN TODAY

Ninth Weekly Party of Tourists Coming

The ninth weekly party of tourists will arrive in Ogden Monday from Chicago and other eastern points en route to the National Park.

The party will consist of 135 tourists. During their stay in Ogden they will pay a visit to the Hermitage in Ogden canyon and other points in the canyon before departing for the north.

Railroad officials stated yesterday that from all indications more than 5,000 more tourists would visit the park this year than last.

The coming month, coming west via Ogden. Thus far this season more than 20,000 tourists have passed through this city en route to the park.

Sanitarium Open

The Ogden Canyon Sanitarium Will Open the Two Inside Pools BEGINNING

Sunday Aug. 22

BRING YOUR OWN SUIT (Ours were all destroyed by the fire)

ADMISSION Adults, 25c; Children, 15c

LIBRARIAN BACK FROM NEW YORK

Grace Harris Completes Library Course at Lake Chautauqua

Miss Grace Harris, librarian at the Carnegie Free Library, has returned from Lake Chautauqua, New York, where she completed a library course.

Miss Harris stated today that she had spent an ideal summer. The weather was delightful, and intense heat was unknown at the lake, she said.

At the conclusion of her seven weeks' course, Miss Harris received a certificate of graduation from the Chautauqua School of Librarians, she said.

The course covers a period of four years.

Miss Harris said that Mrs. Ada Griswold, whom she accompanied east, will return next week. Mrs. Griswold, secretary of the local home service bureau of the Red Cross, has been taking a course in social welfare work at the Columbia university.

Miss Lorna Jenkins, of the Ogden public schools, returned yesterday after completing an extension course in music at the Columbia university.

Miss Ida Fitzsimmons, primary supervisor for the Ogden public schools, is also expected to return from Columbia during the coming week.

Miss Harris said that while heat at

CANNERIES TO OPEN MONDAY

Ten Factories in Northern Utah to Start Active Operations

Ten canning factories in northern Utah will start active operation for the tomato season Monday, according to H. L. Herrington, vice president of the Utah Canners' association.

Trials run in the Utah Canning factory and the Jones factory at Roy were held last Wednesday. The outlook for a record season is good according to Mr. Herrington, the crops in all parts of the state being heavier than last year, but the acreage smaller.

Factories in southern Utah and other parts of the state will start active operation about August 31, according to information given out today.

Lake Chautauqua was not intense, Kansas and Nebraska were getting more than their share of sultry weather.

ELKS' DANCE! Another Elks' dance Monday, August 23, Hermitage. Members may get invitation for friends at office of secretary, 4616

Hot Spell Continues Throughout Nevada

While Ogden canyon residents are shivering during the chilly nights, residents of Fallon, Nevada, are seeking shade trees during the day in order to escape the extreme heat which has been ruling in that section for months.

A mark of 112 was reached last Thursday at Fallon, according to Mr. Frickstad, highway engineer of the United States bureau of public roads, with headquarters here.

Throughout Nevada the heat has been terrific during the entire summer and while Ogdenites have felt the cool breezes, Nevadans have yet to greet the change," said Mr. Frickstad today.

Looking for Parlor, Bedroom and Bath? Most people are. No wonder. It's the funniest play Broadway has seen in many a day. Now at Utah.

MRS. LEE HUBBARD

will be at the

Dorothy Madison Hat Shop

MONDAY AND TUESDAY, AUG. 23 AND 24

Showing a full line of advance fall models of

GOODWIN CORSETS

Mrs. Hubbard will show corsets on living models from 2 to 4 p. m. Monday and lecture on correct corset fitting, Monday morning and Tuesday reserved for fittings. All ladies cordially invited.